

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION

Admission is pending the receipt and review of an official copy of all final transcripts and test scores, if applicable. In addition to the aforementioned supporting documents, admission for transfer students is pending the receipt and review of the College Report. It is fully expected that the remainder of coursework will be similar in caliber to the work upon which the offer of admission was based. All required copies of official documents, such as final transcripts and test scores, must be received by mid-July for fall enrollment and by late December for spring enrollment. If admitted students fail to meet these deadlines, the Office of Undergraduate Admission reserves the right to postpone enrollment to a future entry term.

International students are required to submit all documents required to secure an I-20 around mid-July for fall enrollment and late December for spring enrollment. Failure to comply with this deadline will result in the postponement of enrollment to a future entry term.

In addition, the University of Miami reserves the right to withdraw an offer of admission if a student engages or has engaged in behavior that violates the standards of conduct to which all University students are held. If there is any update to one's conduct, academic or behavioral, the student must notify the Office of Undergraduate Admission immediately at conductupdate@miami.edu.

If an admitted student chooses to confirm enrollment to the University of Miami, they must submit the required deposit by the deadlines mentioned in the Admission Plans section. Transfer students and first-year students admitted for the spring term must adhere to the deposit deadline stated on the admission letter.

A nonrefundable deposit will be credited toward the student's account for billable charges.

By submitting a nonrefundable deposit, the student confirms enrollment to the University of Miami and acknowledges that they have not submitted an enrollment deposit at any other postsecondary institution. If a student who has confirmed enrollment to the University of Miami has been admitted off a waitlist to another college or university and intends to enroll elsewhere, the student must inform the University of Miami immediately. The University of Miami reserves the right to withdraw an offer of admission for any student who concurrently submits an enrollment deposit to any other postsecondary institution.
