Financial Assistance

Financial assistance whose sources of funding are outside of the School of Education and Human Development, for example, Federal loans provided by the University of Miami, shall be governed by all applicable rules, regulations, and policies. Specifically, many federal loans and grants have conditions limiting the programs and/or courses to which they may be applied. Some federal loans are restricted to graduate courses only; some fellowships, grants, or traineeships may entail post-graduation employment commitments. Alternatively, private scholarships or fellowships may have their own conditions. Before accepting any form of financial assistance, please be sure to ask about and to fully understand the conditions that govern whatever type of financial assistance you are offered.

In addition to University-wide fellowships and the availability of student loans, the School of Education and Human Development may provide financial assistance for students enrolled in its graduate programs. These may include tuition-based waivers, teacher-tuition scholarships, training fellowships, graduate student assistantships, and other forms of help.

Notwithstanding a student's time to completion, the School of Education and Human Development limits a student's eligibility for tuition waivers and other financial assistance that is under its control to five years from the time of initial enrollment.

SEHD-based tuition waivers are to be used only for courses that define each student's course sequence plan or program of study. Students who enroll in courses outside of their course sequence plan or program of study will be charged full tuition for those courses.

Teacher Tuition Scholarships do not apply to doctoral (Ph.D. and Ed.D.) programs.

Tuition waivers may not be applied to the retaking of courses for any reason whatsoever.

Application Requirements for Online Programs

In addition to holding the baccalaureate degree from an institution accredited by SACSCOC or another regional accrediting body, the applicant for admission to the Graduate School should have the prerequisite coursework/work experience required by the program to which he/she is applying. In general, those applying for graduate admission should have achieved an overall average grade of "B" or better (3.0 G.P.A. on a 4.0 scale). International students will be required to give evidence of adequate knowledge of English through a TOEFL or IELTS test score.

Admission of a student to the University of Miami for any semester does not imply that such student will be re-enrolled in any succeeding academic semesters.

If students would like to apply to a UOnline program, they will need to create a profile and apply online via our online application portal found here (<https://myonline.miami.edu/SignIn/>). Here students will be assigned a personal Enrollment Advisor who will help guide them as the student submits all the components and required documents for their application. Students' Enrollment Advisors will also guide them through the onboarding process and be available to answer any questions. Students will then transition to their UOnline Student Advocate who will work with them through their first year, then transition to their designated Academic Advisor for important Graduation and completion requirements throughout the remainder of their program.

Admissions & Admissions Decisions

Once the University receives the student's complete application with all required documents, the admissions review process will start.

Regular Admit (with Official Transcripts)

If the application meets the standard admissions requirements and the University has received all official transcripts, from all institutions entered on their online application, the student will receive an offer of full admission in approximately 48 business hours after the University has received the completed application. The student will receive an official email from the Enrollment Advisor and be able to view the admissions decision via their Online Application portal.

Conditional Admit (with Unofficial Transcripts and/or Test Scores)

If the application fully meets the standard admissions requirements, the student may be conditionally admitted if the University has received and accepted the unofficial transcripts for all institutions attended, as entered on their online application, and/or the student's unofficial test scores (if required). Unofficial transcripts may be considered acceptable ONLY IF the document is in a pdf format and ALL of the following items are legible on the transcript document:

- Name of the institution
- Student name
- Cumulative Grade Point Average (preferred)
- Course numbers
- Course names
- Credit hours earned
- Grades earned
- Degree conferred with date (if applicable)
- No other documents will be accepted

Students receive notification typically within 48 business hours after the University has received a complete application (including other required documentation) that the student has been Conditionally Admitted. The notification of Conditional Admission will also address the requirements the student will have to satisfy in order to be officially admitted. The failure to meet any of these conditions will be grounds for the withdrawal of the Conditional Admission and/or the withdrawal from all programs. The student will receive an official email from his/her Enrollment Advisor and be able to view the admissions decision via your Online Application portal.

Students MUST pay their tuition bill or have accepted their Financial Aid Award, no later than by the payment due date. Once students are fully admitted and have paid their non-refundable enrollment deposit, and successfully passed the Student Readiness Orientation (SRO), they may be eligible to receive financial aid within the same term, provided the University has granted the student full admission during the same academic year. Students may start their course and continue through the term as long as they have been awarded Financial Aid, and have accepted their Financial Aid award no later than the first day of class. Student's Financial Aid funds will not be disbursed until the student has participated in their first course and all official admissions documents and all required Financial Aid documents have been received. Students are responsible for checking CaneLink to ensure that their funding is ready for disbursement.

Students will not be registered for the next term until their current balance is paid in full. In the event the student's financial aid award is delayed, students should work directly with their Student Advocate or Academic Advisor to determine the appropriate next steps and ensure they meet the appropriate payment deadlines. Students should refer to the Academic Calendar (<http://www.miami.edu/index.php/registrar/calendar/>) for important deadlines regarding Financial Aid Application due dates. Students may submit their FAFSA after the Financial Aid application priority consideration due date, but may have to use an alternative form of payment if their Financial Aid is not processed by the required payment deadlines.

Students should review the Monthly Payment Plan (MPP) (<http://bulletin.miami.edu/graduate-student-handbook-online-students/cost-fees-billing-payment/>) section for guidance on setting up a monthly payment plan, as well as the Payment Policies section for payment options and consequences for non-payment. Monthly payment plans are available for students at the beginning of each term. Fall and Spring MPP consist of four (4) payments; however, Summer MPP consist of three (3) payment options and is only available to online students at this time. UM Employees are not eligible for Monthly Payment Plans at this time.

Students should review the Transcripts section for official transcripts deadlines and consequences if the University has not received all official transcripts. Students should also review the UOnline (<http://www.miami.edu/index.php/registrar/calendar/>) Academic Calendar (<http://www.miami.edu/index.php/registrar/calendar/>) for official transcript deadlines.

Accepting Admission

When a student's admission decision has been made, the student will receive an official Admissions decision email from the Enrollment Advisor which includes next steps (<https://myonlinesupport.miami.edu/recently-admitted/>) for accepting their offer. Students can also view the admissions decision the online application portal found here (<https://myonline.miami.edu/>).

A student's Enrollment Advisor will guide him/her through the next steps (<https://myonlinesupport.miami.edu/recently-admitted/>) to accept their offer of admission and pay their non-refundable enrollment deposit. A student's offer of admission has not been accepted until their non-refundable enrollment deposit has been paid.

Students will have fourteen (14) calendar days to accept their offer of admission by paying their non-refundable $300 Enrollment Deposit. If a student fails to accept their offer of admission within the fourteen (14) calendar day timeframe according to the Deposit Date on the official Admission letter, the student's application will be withdrawn. Students who apply late will forfeit the full (14) calendar day acceptance policy and will be required to accept their offer no later than the last official Deposit Deadline as set on the UOnline Academic Calendar (<http://www.miami.edu/index.php/registrar/calendar/>), which may be less than (14) calendar days. Students should refer to their official Admissions letter for their exact deposit deadline. If a student chooses to reapply, they will need to wait one (1) additional term before reapplying. Deferrals are not permitted unless the student has been approved for a Deferral Exception (<https://qafederation.ngwebsolutions.com/sp/startSSO.ping?RequestedDynamicFormTemplate=2688d0b9-6031-4812-8f79-84fe37812020>).

Deferral Exception Appeal

In extenuating circumstances, students may choose to apply for a Deferral Exception (<https://qafederation.ngwebsolutions.com/sp/startSSO.ping?RequestedDynamicFormTemplate=2688d0b9-6031-4812-8f79-84fe37812020>). Students who choose not to accept their offer of admission must apply for a Deferral Exception no later than their Deposit Deadline as specified by the Admissions letter, or will be withdrawn and will need to wait one (1) additional term before reapplying. Deferral Exception Requests are only eligible for the next immediate term. Students who would like to wait to start in future terms will need to reapply and should contact their Enrollment Advisor for additional information regarding documents required for admission. Any student who has already accepted their offer of admission must apply for a Deferral Exception no later than the official Completed Enrollment Application Deadline for their current term as per the Academic Calendar. (<http://www.miami.edu/index.php/registrar/calendar/>) Deferral requests submitted after the deadline will not be reviewed. Any student who has already been withdrawn due to missing their deposit deadline, failing their SRO requirement, or by voluntarily submitting a Withdrawal request will not be eligible to defer and must reapply.

- If a student's Deferral Exception application is denied, the student's offer of admission will be withdrawn and they must wait one (1) additional term before reapplying.
- If a student's Deferral Exception is approved, the student's start date will be updated to the next immediate term and the student will be sent a new admissions letter indicating the approval and updated start date.
 - If a student has not accepted their offer of admission, and is approved for a deferral exception, the student will have fourteen (14) calendar days to accept their offer from the date of the deferral approval as per their deferral approval letter. If a student does not accept their offer of admission within the fourteen (14) calendar day time frame, the student's application will be withdrawn and the student must sit out (1) one additional term before reapplying.

- If a student has already accepted their offer of admission, and has been approved for a deferral exception, the student's start date will be updated and a new admissions letter will be sent with the updated term and approval. If a student chooses to withdraw before the census date or is administratively withdrawn for any reason, the student must sit out one (1) additional term before reapplying to the program.

Any student who chooses to reapply for a future term is not guaranteed admission and will be subject to any changes in tuition, waivers, scholarships, and/or admissions requirements for that term.

The offer of Admission Expiration

Offers of Admission are valid for one term only unless a Deferral Exception has been granted. To officially accept the offer of admission, a student must log into Canelink (<https://myonlinesupport.miami.edu/recently-admitted/>) and pay their non-refundable enrollment deposit. If a student has not accepted an offer of admission within the fourteen (14) day time frame/deadline on their official Admissions Letter, he/she must reapply to the University and program after sitting out one additional term. Students should contact the Online Enrollment Office to verify what documents must be submitted for consideration.

There are a few situations in which students have to reapply to a program. Students will have to reapply to a program if:

- A student's original Offer of Admission has expired and he/she never started the online program.

A student should contact the Online Enrollment Office at 1-800-411-2290 if they have questions regarding the application. All students who are readmitted will need to complete the Student Readiness Orientation (SRO) by their deadline, regardless of prior completion, and adhere to all admissions deadlines as set forth in the Academic Calendar.

Not Admitted

If a student's application does NOT meet the standard admissions requirements, he/she will receive a notification that he/she has not been admitted into the program typically within 48 business hours after the University receives the student's completed application. Students will receive an email from their Enrollment Advisor and be able to view their admissions decision via their Online Application portal (<https://myonline.miami.edu/signup/>).

If a student is not admitted into a program, he/she will receive an explanatory email from the Enrollment Advisor and will be able to view their admissions decision via their Online Application portal.
