EPS 601. Field Studies in Education. 1-6 Credit Hours.
Individual study of a school or school system, identifying its strengths and weaknesses, and making positive recommendations.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 605. Regression Methods. 3 Credit Hours.
The aim of this course is to provide a solid foundation in the basic concepts of multivariate statistics, and its application to practical research questions. This course extends the content of EPS 671 (ANOVA methods) and EPS 672 (regression methods) to cover methods used when there are multiple dependent variables to be modeled simultaneously. This course focuses on the traditional multivariate methods (as opposed to the contemporary models of structure equation modeling) that see wide use in the behavioral sciences. The general topics covered in the course include, but are not limited to: introductory matrix algebra, multivariate analysis of variance (MANOVA), factorial MANOVA, discriminant function analysis, and exploratory factor analysis. In all cases, this course is intended to provide a solid conceptual background of these topics, as well as a thorough description/practice of the application of these topics to real data scenarios.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 620. Workshop in Education. 3 Credit Hours.
Study in special interest areas in education.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 622. Community Well-being and Change: Theory and Practice. 3 Credit Hours.
This course is designed to promote an understanding of the factors associated with healthy communities. It provides a comprehensive overview of the relevant skills and theories including: ecological/systems theory/models; community theories (sense of community, social capital, environmental psychology); and critical social theory, social justice, and social determinants of well-being.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 623. Development and Change in Community Organizations: Theory and Practice. 3 Credit Hours.
This course focuses on the unique role of non-profit, community-based organizations in promoting human and community development. Students will engage in an analysis of the range of functions that organizations serve and the various organizational strategies used in community settings.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 624. Essentials of Research in Social and Behavioral Sciences. 3 Credit Hours.
Study of the standards methods and techniques of research in the behavioral and social sciences. Brief orientation to quantitative and qualitative procedures used in the analysis and interpretation of research data are emphasized.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 625. Program Evaluation. 3 Credit Hours.
Terminology, models, standards, practices, and common problems associated with program evaluation in Educational and Social Service settings. Prerequisite: EPS 670 and 553 or equivalents.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 626. Multicultural Communities in a Globalized Society. 3 Credit Hours.
This course examines the relationship between multiculturalism and globalization and how these concepts impact education and the world at large. Topics include dimensions of human diversity, identities and acculturation; race and class; gender and power; children and youth; social inclusion and social justice; health disparities; poverty and work; racism and inequality.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.
EPS 627. Community Youth Development. 3 Credit Hours.
This course in community youth development (CYD) will focus on the philosophical, sociological, and educational foundations of a youth development perspective that highlights youth as powerful catalysts for change and positive forces in shaping communities. We reflect on how youth development is inextricably linked with family and community development. After reviewing and critiquing traditional adolescent development theories, students will engage with theories and practices of CYD, youth empowerment, youth civic engagement, youth organizing, social justice youth development, youth activism, and critical youth engagement.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 628. Social Change Praxis. 3 Credit Hours.
In this course, we will explore the meaning of social change and the nature of power, examine past and present social movements, and learn about the strategies and methods groups have used to build community and deploy collective power in their efforts to change minds, systems, institutions, policies, communities, and nations. Together, we will learn more about critical theories of power, collaboration, systems, and social mobilization, and look at real-life cases to see how theory can be applied in practice. The concept of praxis was chosen as the organizing framework because it requires students to develop an intellectual relationship to their activism. Praxis, simply put, means action informed by theory. In addition to reflecting upon our own values and assumptions as agents of change, we will develop skills for facilitating engaging discussions, recruiting and motivating community members, developing a shared social analysis, mobilizing resources, and building coalitions for social change. We will identify common strategies used in successful campaigns and analyze the choices groups have made in their pursuit of the collective power necessary to achieve their social change goals.
Prerequisite: EPS 622. And EPS 623. And EPS 624. And EPS 625. And EPS 626.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 629. Seminar in Community and Social Change. 3 Credit Hours.
This course is a combination of self-directed and guided elements aiming to build your skills as a reflective, theory and science-based practitioner. To this end, the course provides in-depth exploration and application of core readings and theories in community and social change. The purpose of this course is to apply these core concepts to your practicum and provide a space for critical reflection on your practicum experience (student placement in an organization or a foreign culture). Thus, the course includes both didactic and practicum elements throughout the semester. The didactic aspect focuses on intervention theory and method from a community psychology perspective; the student placement represents a structured opportunity to learn about intervention theory as applied to a particular setting.
Components: PRA.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall, Spring, & Summer.

EPS 635. Special Topics in Educational and Psychological Studies. 1-3 Credit Hours.
Review of emerging policy, practice, empirical research and scholarly writing on important educational issues for which formal course title and syllabus have not been developed and formalized in the UM Bulletin. Allows for experimental instructional formats. This course is designed for students wishing to focus on a specific area of study within the umbrella of Educational and Psychological Studies. Topics will be offered based on current trends in the field as well as student and faculty interest. Students will be given supervision and support.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 667. Professional, Legal and Ethical Issues in Counseling. 3 Credit Hours.
Professional, legal, ethical, and licensing issues in the counseling profession.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 668. Social and Cultural Diversity and Counseling. 3 Credit Hours.
Interrelationship between psychology and sociology in understanding development of diversity in human social systems. Implications for counseling and therapy.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 669. Psychopathology for Counselors. 3 Credit Hours.
In depth introduction to abnormal human behavior patterns of concern to mental health professionals. Clinical conditions will be examined within the context of currently most viable theory and research relating to etiology, assessment, diagnosis and treatment.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.
EPS 670. Dynamics of Marriage and Family Systems. 3 Credit Hours.
Introduction to the history and development of marriage and family systems theory as a method for understanding individuals' behavior and functioning. Introduction to several modes of family therapy. Throughout the course, lectures will also be integrated with other topics including race, culture, gender, sexual orientation, ability.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 671. Family Therapy. 3 Credit Hours.
Concentrated study of several approaches to family therapy including systemic and psychosocial perspectives. Theory and techniques of family therapy are taught in lecture, videotape, and simulation.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 672. Therapy for Couples. 3 Credit Hours.
Theory and technique linked to working with couples, in marriage and in other relationships.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 673. Counseling in Community Settings. 3 Credit Hours.
Exploration of a variety of perspectives on community services relevant to mental health counselors. Topics include: the variety of community settings; community, national, and international diversity in mental health services; diversity of clients (e.g., cultures, religions, GLBT, elderly, social classes, disabilities); mental health funding; the role of politics, policy, advocacy, and research; interviewing across cultures.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 674. Lifestyle and Career Counseling. 3 Credit Hours.
An introductory course in career development and career counseling, focusing on theories of career development, counseling tools, strategies, and sociological, economic, and psychological influences on the American worker.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 675. Therapeutic Group Procedures. 3 Credit Hours.
This course examines both the theory and practice of group counseling. The course covers therapist issues, patient selection criteria, group structuring as well as basic therapeutic techniques. The course prepares students to design structured counseling groups, to prepare group counseling materials, and to lead counseling groups of various types.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 676. Counseling Process and Practice. 3 Credit Hours.
The development of basic communication and clinical skills necessary for establishing the counseling relationship and conducting therapy.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 677. Assessment Strategies for Counselors I. 3 Credit Hours.
This course places emphasis on diagnosis, appraisal, assessment, and testing for individual and interpersonal disorders. It addresses statistical procedures and psychometric principles necessary for responsible test use and exposes the student to a variety of test and non-test assessment techniques in marriage and family, and mental health counseling.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 678. Counseling Theories and Practice. 3 Credit Hours.
Study of theories and concomitant practices in counseling and therapy.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.
EPS 679. Lifespan Human Development. 3 Credit Hours.
Theories and research relating to the biophysical, cognitive, and psychosocial domains of human lifespan development.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 680. Theory and Practice with Children and Adolescents. 3 Credit Hours.
Course prepares students to provide preventive and therapeutic interventions with children and adolescents including theory, research, and practice.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 681. Counseling and Sexuality. 3 Credit Hours.
Emphasis is placed on self-awareness and acceptance of all dimensions of human sexuality. Readings and classroom activities focus on biological aspects of sexuality, an understanding of sexual dysfunctions, and their treatment.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 682. Practicum in Counseling I. 1-4 Credit Hours.
Supervised Practicum at the Institute for Individual and Family counseling and other appropriated clinical settings relating theoretical formulations to intervention strategies appropriate to specialization.
Components: PRA.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 684. Research and Program Evaluation in Counseling. 3 Credit Hours.
Course focuses on the interpretation and application of research data as applied to clinical practice. Skills in using behavioral research-based literature to identify, evaluate and interpret appropriate interventions are also emphasized.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 685. Substance Abuse and Addictions: Theories and Counseling. 3 Credit Hours.
Theories and research on individual, systemic causes, and outcomes of substance abuse, and concomitant practices in counseling and therapy.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 686. Working with Black Clients: Treatment and Assessment Considerations. 3 Credit Hours.
This course presents three core content areas with respect to the treatment and assessment of Black populations. The first content area addresses historical aspects of the development of Black psychology. Additionally, it will review ethnocentrism, the misuse of Western psychology to marginalize African Americans and reasons for scientific abuses against people of color, such as the Tuskegee Syphilis Study. Lastly the first content area will focus on topics such as the Black family, racism, cultural mistrust, stereotype threat, Black/White relations, and Black mental health. Concomitant aspects of Black culture including; racial identity development, spirituality, sexuality, common misconceptions about Black populations, and within group differences related to gender, class, age, and sexual orientation will be peripherally addressed. The second content area presents a culturally-informed perspective on the psychological assessment and treatment of African Americans. It will focus on topics such as ethnic/racial identity models, cultural variables that may affect DSM 5 diagnoses, epidemiological mental health data across ethno-racial groups, biased measures, culturally specific interventions, and important factors to consider during the delivery of treatment. The third module will focus largely on the infusion and integration of the first two modules in therapeutic practice with Black populations.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 687. Latino Youth and Families. 3 Credit Hours.
This course will focus on the Latino family with emphasis on the development of Latino youth in the U.S. Latino youth and their families will be described within an ecological context. The following social and cultural contexts and their impact on Latino youth development will be addressed: cultural values; parenting practices; religious belief systems; poverty and chronic stressors; immigration and acculturation; ethnic identity; psychosexual development; bilingualism; suicidality; resiliency; and academic barriers. Recommendations for culturally responsive counseling will be discussed throughout.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.
EPS 688. Spanish for Mental Health Professionals. 3 Credit Hours.
This course will address the nuances and role of language in the context of counseling, with a focus on the Spanish language. The course will include a dual lens: on the experience of the bilingual counseling client and on the experience of the counselor with varying degrees of proficiency in Spanish. We will address (1) the role of language within the counseling setting with bilingual clients, (2) how cultural values influence language, (3) how cultural values and customs influence the degree of emotion or energy expressed in language and emotion-laden states, (4) the common challenges and experiences of counselors in speaking in Spanish with their clients, and (5) recommended terms and words to use in Spanish in the counseling setting. The course will include assigned readings, lectures, class discussion, videos and role-plays to facilitate assimilation of the material.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 689. Psychological Interventions with Hispanic/Latino Populations. 3 Credit Hours.
Explores the diversity of experiences among Hispanics and their implications for therapy. Topics include: racial diversity among Hispanics, sociopolitical factors in mental health, the impact of immigration on mental health, special psychological treatments: trauma treatment, family interventions and bilingual counseling.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 693. Bereavement and Attachment Factors for Children and Families. 1-3 Credit Hours.
This course will focus on attachment and development of factors as they relate to the bereavement and loss experience of children, adolescents, young adults, and families. Effective methodology in the care of these populations will be explored. Content will include the trajectory of grief in childhood development, manifestation of loss and grief, risk factors in the loss experience, attachment issues, types of loss, popular notions of loss and treatment, and best practice in bereavement work.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 698. Continuous Registration--Master's Study. 1 Credit Hour.
To establish residence for non-thesis master's students who are preparing for major examinations. Credit not granted. Regarded as full time residence.
Components: THI.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall, Spring, & Summer.

EPS 699. Advanced Individual Study I. 1-6 Credit Hours.
Individual work on a special project under faculty guidance.
Components: THI.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 700. Quantitative Methods I. 3 Credit Hours.
This course provides an introduction to data analysis and statistical inference. Students learn to describe data (quantitatively and graphically), to select and compute statistical estimates and hypothesis tests, to use computer packages (SPSS) to accomplish these tasks, and to interpret and write about the results of the estimates and tests. Knowledge of basic algebra is needed. Higher mathematics (e.g., trigonometry, calculus) is not used.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Offered by Announcement Only.

EPS 701. Introduction to Research Methods. 3 Credit Hours.
The nature of disciplined inquiry in behavioral and social sciences. Includes philosophy of science, quantitative and qualitative research, basic concepts in sampling and measurement, and systematic searches of the research literature. Students required to complete literature search on a topic of their interest and submit a report of their findings.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.
EPS 702. Quantitative Methods II. 3 Credit Hours.
This course introduces students to techniques of data analysis and statistical inference based on the General Linear Model (GLM). The major topics covered in this class include simple/multiple regression, one- and two-way Analysis of Variance (ANOVA) followed by multiple comparisons, Analysis of Covariance (ANCOVA), and Repeated Measures ANOVA. This course aims to provide a solid conceptual background of these topics, as well as the analytic skills for conducting educational and psychological research in practice. Knowledge of basic algebra and SPSS is required, as is an understanding of the fundamental principles of descriptive statistics and hypothesis testing (as taught, for example, in EPS 700 or equivalent). Knowledge of calculus is not required. Students will conduct statistical analyses using real datasets.
Prerequisite: EPS 700.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 703. Applied Multivariate Statistics. 3 Credit Hours.
This course will provide: (1) a conceptually-oriented introduction to regression methods and (2) opportunities to learn related data-analytic techniques.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 704. Computer Applications in Educational and Behavioral Science Research. 3 Credit Hours.
This course introduces the use of statistical software packages R for acquiring, managing, and preparing datasets that are required to produce reliable and valid statistical inferences. With a special focus on R, the course will cover a broad range of hands-on activities in the data analytic process including data coding, file manipulation tasks, data screening, and statistical analysis, and also provide a brief introduction to R programming.
Components: LSN.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.

EPS 705. Measurement and Psychometric Theory. 3 Credit Hours.
EPS 705 (Measurement and Psychometric Theory) is a first component of a sequence of classes in order to acquaint students with cutting edge models in test theory and with the application of computer software with which to implement those theories. This sequence of classes provides an introduction to contemporary measurement principles implicated in the design and analysis of scales, tests, and psychological inventories. EPS 705 covers the essentials of classical test theory, factor models of test items, generalizability theory, and a brief introduction of item response theory. After completing the course, students should be provided foundations for further study of measurement theory and be prepared to take a course for item response theory.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 706. Categorical Data Analysis. 3 Credit Hours.
Categorical data is abundant in many different fields such as education, psychology, and marketing. The use of statistical methods for categorical data has increased dramatically in recent years. Categorical data can be numeric or character, but it is always a discrete number of levels. Virtually every research project categorizes some of its observations: male or female, marital status, political or religious affiliation, race of patient, and so on. Prerequisite: EPS 553 and EPS 671.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 707. Item Response Theory. 3 Credit Hours.
The purpose of the course is to provide training in the theory and application of item response theory (IRT) as it pertains to educational and psychological measurements. Focus will be given to discussing IRT as a measurement model used to measure the properties of items and individuals. Particular attention will be given to contrasting the properties of the IRT model to the classical test theory, and the application of IRT to actual data sets.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 708. An Introduction to Structural Equation Modeling for Multivariable Data. 3 Credit Hours.
This course will provide (1) a conceptually-oriented introduction to Structural Equation Modeling for multivariate data and (2) opportunities to learn related data-analytic techniques.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.
EPS 709. Introduction to Multilevel Modeling. 3 Credit Hours.
This course will provide: (1) a conceptually-oriented introduction to multilevel modeling and (2) opportunities to learn related data-analytic techniques.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 710. Meta-Analytic Methods for Research Synthesis. 3 Credit Hours.
Meta-analysis is the general practice of combining, comparing, and interpreting statistics across a set of studies that investigate the same (or similar) phenomena using a properly motivated theoretical framework. Meta-analysis has become a popular tool in a variety of research disciplines, including the social sciences, education, medicine, and business. This course provides a thorough introduction to the theoretical foundations of meta-analysis, discusses commonly used statistical techniques, and analyzes several examples of the existing meta-analysis. Emphasis is placed on application, so that students are trained to independently perform a meta-analysis, from start to finish, in whatever substantive area interests students the most.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 711. Advanced Topics in Research, Measurement, and Evaluation. 3 Credit Hours.
Review of emerging quantitative methodological advances relevant to educational research for which formal course title and syllabus have not been developed and formalized in the UM Bulletin. Allow for experimental instructional formats. See Course Notes for specific topic.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 712. Field Experience in Educational Research. 2-6 Credit Hours.
A total of 125 hours of supervised practical experiences in educational research. Emphasis is placed on actual participation in a wide variety of ongoing research projects through associations with an approved educational R & D center. Normally taken in two or three credit blocks.
Components: PRA.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Spring.

EPS 714. Qualitative Methods I. 3 Credit Hours.
An overview of the history, nature, characteristics, strategies, and ethics of qualitative research methods. Critical analysis and evaluation of various types of qualitative studies, including design, sampling, processes of data collection and analysis, and reporting results.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 715. Qualitative Methods II: Case Studies and Grounded Theory. 3 Credit Hours.
Types and designs of case studies, development of protocol, field work, data analysis, and report writing. Practical procedures and techniques for conducting grounded theory studies, including data coding and analysis, and reporting of results.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 716. Qualitative Methods II: Interviews and Content Analysis. 3 Credit Hours.
Sociological and oral history interview methods, including methodological issues, computer-based coding, decoding, and interpreting data. Visual and text based content analysis, scoring schemas, and inter-rated reliability are also covered.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 717. Survey Research Methods. 3 Credit Hours.
Focus on standards and practical strategies for designing different types of survey instruments and conducting survey research. Students are required to develop a proposal for survey research, develop a survey instrument, and conduct small pilot study by collecting, analyzing, and reporting survey data.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.
EPS 725. Seminar in Community Well-Being. 1-6 Credit Hours.
This course provides an overview of the field of community psychology. We will examine the conceptual and theoretical developments in community psychology since the 1965 Swampscott Conference (the 'birthplace' of community psychology) through reading primary sources—articles, monographs and book chapters—by those who have shaped the field. The readings will include some empirical research studies, but our key focus is the conceptual writings. The goal of this course is to understand and critique different theoretical perspectives in the field of community psychology.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Offered by Announcement Only.

EPS 731. Theories of Community Research and Action. 3 Credit Hours.
This course provides an overview of theoretical perspectives and how they are applied to social and psychological issues in the field of community psychology. The course examines the conceptual and theoretical developments in community psychology since the 1965 Swampscott Conference (the 'birthplace' of the field) through reading primary sources—articles, monographs and book chapters—by those who have shaped the field. Readings also include empirical articles that illustrate the application of these concepts to research. Class discussions are central to this course. In addition, course assignments include the following: (1) brief reflections on readings 3 times during the course of the semester; (2) an interview with a community psychologist and a short essay based on the interview; (3) the final paper is a systematic critical literature review on the topic of interest to students. In this paper, students critique a body of empirical work using theoretical perspectives in community psychology.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 732. Community Based Participatory Action Research. 3 Credit Hours.
The purpose of this course is to introduce students to several traditions of community based participatory action research (CBP AR). CBP AR is carried out in collaboration between academic researchers and members of communities, and involves an iterative process of developing research questions, designing methods, implementing data collection, interpreting results, and often developing interventions. Students will begin by reviewing different intellectual traditions in participatory research including Community Based Participatory Research (CBPR), Participatory Action Research (PAR), Critical PAR and others. We will also stress the ways that participatory research has developed within the traditions of Community Psychology, such as Ecological Inquiry and Participatory Evaluation. While all these three traditions are related and overlapping, students will be encouraged to critique and contrast these approaches.
Prerequisite: EPS 670.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Offered by Announcement Only.

EPS 737. Organization and Administration of Higher Education I. 3 Credit Hours.
Theoretical approaches from organizational analysis. Applications to problems, processes, and patterns of higher education institutions. Consideration given to legal status, governance patterns, and external relations. Administrator, faculty, trustee, and student roles are also explored.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 738. Effective Teaching, Learning, Assessment, and Curriculum in Higher Education. 3 Credit Hours.
Provides an overview of current theories, research, and best practices in effective teaching, learning, assessment, and curricular design.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Fall & Summer.

EPS 739. The Community College. 3 Credit Hours.
An overview of American community colleges including historical evolution, purposes and functions, characteristics of students and faculty, organization and administration, curricula, current issues, and trends.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Offered by Announcement Only.

EPS 740. Administration of Student Affairs. 3 Credit Hours.
History and philosophy of student affairs will be addressed as well as principles and organization of student affairs administration, current problems, procedures, and recent developments.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
Typically Offered: Summer.
EPS 741. Basic Skills in Counseling and Interviewing. 3 Credit Hours.
Introductory course on essential skills used in counseling and interviewing. Through lectures, discussions, and small group exercises, students will explore their natural style of helping and learn effective listening and communication skills. This course is not intended to train students to become a professional counselor.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 742. Higher Education in the United States: From Harvard to Present. 3 Credit Hours.
Broad view of issues and problems in higher education. Fundamental ideas and significant literature are analyzed from historical, philosophical, and societal perspectives.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 743. Psychological Bases of Education. 3 Credit Hours.
Review and extension of basic principles of psychology underlying educational practice. Basic concepts of educational psychology which contribute to effective education will be discussed.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 744. Student Diversity in American Higher Education. 3 Credit Hours.
Emphasis on the diversity of today's undergraduate students. An examination of the sociological context and philosophical orientation of contemporary college students is included.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 745. Organization & Administration of Higher Ed II: Governance, Leadership and Finance. 3 Credit Hours.
Provides an overview of selected topics in governance, administrative leadership and finance in higher education.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Fall.

EPS 746. College Student Development: Theory, Research and Practice. 3 Credit Hours.
Emphasis on student growth and development during college and an analysis of the factors which affect development along cognitive and affective dimensions. An in-depth examination of college student development theories is included.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Spring.

EPS 747. Critical Issues in Student Affairs: The Law and Higher Education. 3 Credit Hours.
Emphasis on the most pressing issues facing the profession of student affairs today including diversity, funding, staff retention and the law and student affairs.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.
 Typically Offered: Offered by Announcement Only.

EPS 748. Enrollment Management: Theory and Practice. 3 Credit Hours.
Comprehensive overview of principles and practices of a strategic process that begins with recruitment and continues through graduation.
Components: LEC.
Grading: GRD.

EPS 776. Doctoral Practicum II. 1-9 Credit Hours.
This course is a combination of self-directed and guided elements aiming to build your skills as a reflective, theory and science-based practitioner. To this end, the course provides in-depth exploration and application of core readings and theories in community and social change. The purpose of this course is to apply these core concepts to your practicum and provide a space for critical reflection on your practicum experience (student placement in an organization or a foreign culture). Thus, the course includes both didactic and practicum elements throughout the semester. The didactic aspect focuses on intervention theory and method from a community psychology perspective; the student placement represents a structured opportunity to learn about intervention theory as applied to a particular setting.

EPS 785. Preparing Future Faculty Seminar. 1-3 Credit Hours.
The goal of this course is to introduce you to the larger role of university professor. The class is designed to give you some general sense of university structure and of the breadth of opportunities in higher education, to think through your own vision of “being a professor” particularly the part of that role that focuses on teaching, and to help you on the job search by preparing a professional portfolio that will help you get that first job and, hopefully, set you on a smooth career path. The PFF seminar will provide you with contextual and interdisciplinary knowledge of professoriate. Each seminar will be designed to aid you in your goal to become an outstanding faculty member. PFF will give you an overview of life on the academic job market and the pre-tenure years. It is your responsibility to tailor that information to fit your needs. It is expected that you take the information you learn in PFF and speak with mentors in your discipline to glean further insights into faculty life.
