These programs are under the supervision of the Dean of the Graduate School and the School of Education and Human Development Sr. Associate Dean for Graduate Studies.

Vision/Mission
Our vision is to be a center of excellence in the study, promotion and integration of educational, psychological, and physical well-being in multicultural communities.

Our mission is to produce knowledge and prepare the next generation of leaders, researchers, and agents of change and well-being in education and the community.

Academic Policies

Academic Integrity Statement
Academic integrity is fundamental to scholarship, good citizenry, and individual success. All students in the School of Education and Human Development are expected to abide by the University of Miami Honor Code (https://umshare.miami.edu/web/wda/deanstudents/pdf/undergrad_honorcode.pdf). It was established “to preserve the academic integrity of the student body, to encourage consistent ethical behavior among undergraduates, and to foster a climate of fair competition.” Please become thoroughly familiar with the provisions of the Code, academic dishonesty and violations of the Honor Code will not be tolerated.

Admission
Applications for incoming freshman are processed and reviewed by the Office of Admission.

Application to the Bachelor of Science in Education program is requested by February 1st.

Early application is encouraged.

Transfer students: The academic accomplishments of each transfer student will be evaluated on an individual basis. A 3.0 GPA is recommended for transfer admission.

Application deadline for transfer students is March 1st.

Students admitted into the SEHD programs are held to the program requirements stated in the Bulletin for that term.

Student Responsibilities
Students are responsible for planning their own programs and for meeting degree requirements. It is the student’s responsibility to understand and fully comply with the provisions set forth in this Bulletin and written changes to their program of study. Written requests for variation from program or school requirements are reviewed by an administrative committee.

Matriculated students who elect to transfer courses from another institution over a summer or intersession term, must receive departmental or program approval prior to enrolling in the course. Students are responsible for adhering to the residency rule which states that the last 45 consecutive credits must be earned at UM.

A student advising compact specifies the dual responsibilities between students and advisors in each program.

Academic Progress and Probation
The School will review each student’s record at the end of each semester.

When a student’s semester or cumulative average is less than stated below, or progress toward degree completion is unsatisfactory, the student will be placed on academic probation or warning in accordance with the School of Education and Human Development policies and procedures.

Students on probation are not permitted to enroll in more than 12 credit hours, shall make arrangements to meet on a monthly basis with their academic advisor, and may have a STOP placed on their future enrollment until grades are further reviewed. The following criteria will determine probationary status.

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Credit Hours Earned</th>
<th>CGPA</th>
<th>CGPA (Exercise Physiology Majors Only)</th>

Note: There are different retention and probation policies for Athletic Training majors. Please see the Athletic Training (http://bulletin.miami.edu/undergraduate-academic-programs/education-human-development/kinesiology-sport-sciences) website or the Athletic Training Guidelines Manual for this and other important information regarding the requirements for completion of the Athletic Training major.

Note: The minimum GPA required for graduation from a Teacher Education Program is 2.5.

Subject to Dismissal
A student who remains on academic probation twice during their undergraduate studies can be designated as “Subject to Dismissal” and will be dismissed the following semester if not removed from probationary status. It is not required to be on this status to be dismissed from the School of Education and Human Development or from the University of Miami.

Academic Dismissal

A student in the School of Education and Human Development whose CGPA or progress toward degree completion, falls below the level of the minimum standards of the University of Miami and/or the School of Education and Human Development, may be dismissed.

Accreditation

Kinesiology and Sport Sciences offers the Athletic Training Program that is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE); the Sport Administration Program is approved by the North American Society of Sport Management.

The Department of Teaching and Learning in The School of Education and Human Development offers Teacher Education Programs approved by the Florida Department of Education. In conjunction with the Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music, the School of Education and Human Development offers Teacher Education Programs in Music Education at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Students who successfully complete their program of studies and submit an application to the Florida Department of Education - Bureau of Educator Certification are eligible to receive a Professional Teaching Certificate.

The policy for practicum, internship and clinical lab credit hours will vary by program. Please check the specific program requirements with your academic advisor or program director.

The Foote Fellows Honors Program reflects the educational vision of former University of Miami President Edward T. Foote, who retired in 2000 after serving the University for twenty years. President Foote passed away in the spring, 2016 but his legacy lives on through the Foote Fellow Honors Program that recognizes the most educationally accomplished incoming students at the University of Miami. Foote Fellows have distinguished themselves both in and out of the classroom at their previous schools, are self-motivated, and think independently. Foote Fellows enjoy unmatched freedom and flexibility to explore a multitude of educational resources within the curricular framework of their school or college. Many Foote Fellows leverage this opportunity to pursue additional majors and/or minors and to study abroad.

The School of Education and Human Development (SEHD) offers a first year inter-disciplinary seminar exclusively for Foote Fellows lead by the dean of the school, Isaac Prilleltensky.

Foote Fellows have preferential advising for course registration with their advisor, Associate Dean, Gina Astorini. Dean Astorini assists Foote Fellows to chart their academic path and to attain access to distinctive learning opportunities at the University, such as special school-based seminars, faculty-mentored research, networking opportunities, and off-campus internships. They also have early registration appointments thus providing optimal access to the most exciting and popular courses on campus.

Foote Fellows are invited to participate in the Research Honors Program. This is a two year program where students complete the following components:

- A Thesis (20 page minimum-faculty mentored)
- Seminar and poster presentation at the Undergraduate Research, Creativity and Innovation Forum in the spring
- Students who complete the program will have their transcripts stamped with Research Honors Designation.

The SEHD has partnered with the Melissa Institute of Miami. The Melissa Institute, conducts research and sponsors conferences, forums and seminars throughout the year addressing school bullying, domestic violence, prevention, education, awareness and community engagement directed at reducing violence. The SEHD, through the generosity of the Melissa Institute, offers complimentary tickets to Foote Fellow students in our program to attend these conferences/seminars during the semester.

Foote Fellows are invited to join advanced, interdisciplinary Foote Fellow seminars taught by leading faculty members from across the University. An example is Books That Matter, a rigorous seminar in non-fiction reading that is offered in sessions for first-year and for upper-class students. Additionally, Foote Fellows benefit from early move-in to the residential colleges and receive focused advising on post-baccalaureate distinguished fellowships and awards.

The Foote Fellow Program will provide an enriching experience for students who have been accepted by UM.
