

BA GLOBAL HEALTH STUDIES/MA IN GLOBAL HEALTH & SOCIETY

Overview

The College of Arts & Sciences offers a five-year interdisciplinary program offering students an opportunity to earn both bachelors and masters degree in five years.

The BA in Global Health Studies/MA in Global Health & Society may be completed by students in either the Humanities or Social Sciences' undergraduate track.

This five-year program provides a comprehensive framework covering the sociopolitical, economic, and geographic factors that, in addition to biomedical factors, impact health conditions of various countries and populations throughout the world. Students gain the social science knowledge and methodologies to integrate stakeholders and researchers in the design, implementation, interpretation of community-based participatory studies. Additionally, graduates of our program acquire skills in leadership and advocacy, and combined with a deep understanding of policy and governance, are prepared to assist private, government, non-profit, and for-profit organizations formulate new global and community health strategies.

Admission Requirements

Students who wish to enter the 5-year BA/MA program must satisfy undergraduate admission requirements as well as the admission requirements for the M.A. in Global Health and Society, as listed in the Academic Bulletin.
